NEW QUESTION: 2

Your network contains an Active Directory forest named contoso.com. The forest contains two domains named contoso.com and litwareinc.com.

Your company recently deployed DirectAccess for the members of a group named DA_Computers. All client computers are members of DA_Computers.

You discover that DirectAccess clients can access the resources located in the contoso.com domain only. The clients can access the resources in the litwareinc.com domain by using an L2TP VPN connection to the network.

You need to ensure that the DirectAccess clients can access the resources in the litwareinc.com domain.

What should you do?

- A. From a Group Policy object (GPO), modify the Name Resolution Policy Table (NRPT).
- B. From the properties of the servers in litwareinc.com, configure the delegation settings.
- C. On an external DNS server, create a zone delegation for litwareinc.com.
- D. Add the servers in litwareinc.com to the RAS and IAS Servers group.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3

HOTSPOT

You administer Windows 10 Enterprise computers in your company network. All computers include Windows 10

Enterprise compatible Trusted Platform Module (TPM).

You configure a computer that will run a credit card processing application.

You need to ensure that the computer requires a user to enter a PIN code when starting the computer.

Which policy should you configure? (To answer, select the appropriate policy in the answer area.)

Answer:

BitLocker Group Policy Settings

Require additional authentication at startup

This policy setting is used to control which unlock options are available for operating system drives.

With this policy setting, you can configure whether BitLocker requires additional authentication each time the computer starts and whether you are using BitLocker with a Trusted Platform Module (TPM). This policy setting is applied when you turn on BitLocker.

On a computer with a compatible TPM, four types of authentication methods can be used at startup to provide added protection for encrypted data

a. When the computer starts, it can use:

only the TPM for authentication insertion of a USB flash drive containing the startup key the entry of a 4-digit to 20-digit personal identification number (PIN)

a combination of the PIN and the USB flash drive

There are four options for TPM-enabled computers or devices:

* Configure TPM startup

Allow TPM

Require TPM

Do not allow TPM

* Configure TPM startup PIN

Allow startup PIN with TPM

Require startup PIN with TPM

Do not allow startup PIN with TPM

* Configure TPM startup key

Allow startup key with TPM

Require startup key with TPM

Do not allow startup key with TPM

* Configure TPM startup key and PIN

Allow TPM startup key with PIN

Require startup key and PIN with TPM

Do not allow TPM startup key with PIN

There are a few things you'll need to note when configuring these settings in Group Policy for your Active Directory.

Second, make sure you get the "Require additional authentication at startup" setting correct under "Operating system drives." Make sure that "Allow BitLocker without a compatible TPM" is unchecked and that you're not requiring more than one startup option. This is how it should look:

"Allow Secure Boot for integrity validation" allows you to configure the use of Secure Boot on computers that have UEFI firmware. More specifically, it lets you disable it since the default is to use Secure Boot when it is available on a computer. In the event you do disable it, you can configure the "use enhanced Boot Configuration Data validation profile" to choose specific BCD settings to verify.
