- B. Option A
- C. Option D
- D. Option B

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2

Which sequence of steps should you follow to configure an approval rule to automatically approve without being sent to an approver?

- A. Create the routing for the rule so that it is sent to the initiator, enter Approve in the auto action field, and then set the Auto Action Enabled option to True.
- B. Create the routing for the rule so that it is sent to the initiator, select the Routing type as Serial, and then set the Auto Action Enabled option to True.
- C. Create the routing for the rule so that it is sent to the initiator, set the Auto Action Enabled option to True, and then enter Approve in the auto action field.
- D. Create the routing for the rule so that it is sent to the initiator, select the Routing type as Serial, and then set the Auto Action Enabled option to True.

Answer: C

Explanation:

You can configure a specific rule to automatically approve without being sent to any approver. Modify the routing for that rule so that it is sent to the initiator (which means the requestor is the approver), set the Auto Action Enabled option to True, and enter APPROVE in the Auto Action field.
