NEW QUESTION: 1

The security administrator is receiving numerous alerts from the internal IDS of a possible Conficker infection spreading through the network via the Windows file sharing services. Given the size of the company which deploys over 20,000 workstations and 1,000 servers, the security engineer believes that the best course of action is to block the file sharing service across the organization by placing ACLs on the internal routers.

Which of the following should the security administrator do before applying the ACL?

- A. Apply the ACL immediately since this is an emergency that could lead to a widespread data compromise.
- B. Call an emergency change management meeting to ensure the ACL will not impact core business functions.
- C. Consult with the rest of the security team and get approval on the solution by all the team members and the team manager.
- D. Quickly research best practices with respect to stopping Conficker infections and implement the solution.

Note:

* the Edge generally only listens on port 5061 if you have

Federation enabled

* Port, protocol and firewall requirements for federation with Microsoft Lync Server 2013, Lync Server 2010 and Office Communications Server are similar to those for the deployed Edge Server. Clients initiate communication with the Access Edge service over TLS/SIP/TCP 443. Federated partners however, will initiate communications to the Access Edge service over MTLS/SIP/TCP 5061.
