NEW QUESTION: 1

Your network contains an Active Directory domain. The network has DirectAccess deployed.
You deploy the DirectAccess Connectivity Assistant (DCA) to all client computers. You need to ensure that users can view their DirectAccess status by using the DCA. Which two group policy settings should you configure? (Each correct answer presents part of the solution. Choose two.)

- A. PortalName
- B. Corporate Portal Site
- C. Dynamic Tunnel Endpoints (DTEs)
- D. Corporate Resources

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Dynamic Tunnel Endpoints (DTEs)

Type:A collection of IPv6 addresses that each identify a DirectAccess server.

Default: None

Description: Specifies the dynamic tunnel endpoints (DTEs) of the IPsec tunnels that enable DirectAccess. It is through these tunnels that the DCA attempts to access the resources that are specified in the CorporateResources setting. By default, the DCA uses the same DirectAccess server that the DirectAccess client computer connection is using. In default configurations of DirectAccess, there are typically two DTEs, one for the infrastructure tunnel, and one for the intranet tunnel. You should configure one DTE for each tunnel. Each entry consists of the text PING: followed by the IPv6 address, for example:

PING:2002:836b:1::836b:1.

To discover the addresses for your DirectAccess configuration, you can review the IP addresses included in the connection security rules applied by the DirectAccess GPO. In a default DirectAccess configuration, the rules are named DirectAccess Policy-ClientToCorp and DirectAccess Policy-ClientToDnsDc, and the value to include in this setting is the RemoteTunnelEndpoint. To view these addresses, you can use the netsh advfirewall consec show rule name=all type=dynamic command.

NEW QUESTION: 2

Answer: D

Explanation:
Explanation

Connect to a VM through Azure Bastion.

When you click on Connect in an Azure VM, you have an additional option called Bastion. In order to get this option, the Azure VM must belong to the same virtual network as the Azure Bastion.
