NEW QUESTION: 1 Refer to the exhibit. Which action must you take to enable the WAN link to function properly? A. Enter a clock rate on the DCE interface. B. Enter a clock rate on the DTE interface. C. Configure both interfaces for HDLC encapsulation. D. Enter a compression algorithm on both interfaces. Answer: A

Explanation: When connecting a serial cable to the serial interface of the router, clocking is provided by an external device, such as a CSU/DSU device. A CSU/DSU (Channel Service Unit/Data Service Unit) is a digital-interface device used to connect a router to a digital circuit. The router is the DTE (Data Terminal Equipment) and the external device is the DCE (Data Communications Equipment), where the DCE provides the clocking. However, in some cases we might connect two routers back-to-back using the routers' serial interfaces (Example. Inside the router labs). Each router is a DTE by default. Since clocking is required to enable the interface, one of the two routers should function as DCE and should provide clocking. This can be done by using the "clock rate" command, from the interface configuration mode. Reference:

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which of the following would verify that a threat does exist and security controls can easily be bypassed without actively testing an application? A. Vulnerability scan B. Penetration test C. Port scanner D. Protocol analyzer Answer: A

Explanation: A vulnerability scan is the automated process of proactively identifying security vulnerabilities of computing systems in a network in order to determine if and where a system can be exploited and/or threatened. While public servers are important for communication and data transfer over the Internet, they open the door to potential security breaches by threat agents, such as malicious hackers. Vulnerability scanning employs software that seeks out security flaws based on a database of known flaws, testing systems for the occurrence of these flaws and generating a report of the findings that an individual or an enterprise can use to tighten the network's security. Vulnerability scanning typically refers to the scanning of systems that are connected to the Internet but can also refer to system audits on internal networks that are not connected to the Internet in order to assess the threat of rogue software or malicious employees in an enterprise.
